rejected.

THE BOARD REBUKED.

Mr. Landerkin, on behalf of the Finance Committee, also presented the report made to that body by the special accountant in regard to the accounts of the fire department. The report went into a good many details as to former transactions of the Board, which appeared to be in conflict with the provisions of the iaw. This was argued to, and President Frishkorn and Mr. Charles F. Taylor were heard. Mr. Frishkorn F. Taylor were heard. Mr. Frishkorn pointed out the numerous improvements made in the department during the past few years. This city was better provided with fire-alarm boxes than any other city in this country, and the rate of boxes to private parties only resulted in the benefit of the city, for the profits were used to put additional boxes in the streets.

Taylor thought the report had no Mr. Taylor thought the report had no husiness before the Council: everything that had been done by the Board, because it believed it had a perfect right to do so under its charter. He did not say that the Board had not made any mistake, but every thing that had been done by the Board had meen done with an honest purpose to do its full duty. He thought the Council had not the right to look into this matter.

to look into this matter.

Mr. Wallerstein moved that the report be referred to the city attorney to advise the Council what its duty was in the premises. The question was to ascertain whether a commission stood above the Council, or the latter body was the superior one. The Council was appropriating annually nearly a hundred thousand dollars for the fire department, and it had but been stated that Council thousand dollars for the fire department, and it had just been stated that Council had nothing to say in the manner of expending that money Mr. Wallesstein added to his motion that the city attorney be requested to submit his report at next meeting. The resolution was political and personal feeling. While the present administration of the Post-Office Department received commen dation from a Republican senator (Mr. Wolcott, of Colorado), it received severe criticism from a Democratic senator (Mr. Gorman, of Maryland), and President Cleveland came in for a large measure of abuse from a Populist senator (Mr.

Allen, of Nebraska).

According to Mr. Wolcott, the affairs of the Post-Office Department are being "ably and intelligently conducted." Mr. "ably and intelligently conducted." Mr. Gorman ironically congratulated the Post-Office Department that it had a Republican senator for defender, and he suggested, with biting sarcasm, that many acts of the administration could best be defended by some Republicans. He condemned Postmaster-General Wilson for going about the country delivering lectures on the tariff and on gold and silver, inon the tariff and on gold and silver, in-stead of attending to the duties of his office, and quoted the hemely proverb that "when a man is found proclaiming mugwump in the country, he said, was installed in the White House; although he thought it was difficult to tell whether Mr. Cleveland was more of a mugwump for imperial Democrat. He Mr. Cleveland was more of a mugwump than he was of an imperial Democrat. He added that Mr. Cleveland was a disgrace to the great office he occupied, and that he thought he oight not to be, and doubtless would not be, returned to that position again. The session closed without a vote having been reached; but it was agreed that a vote would be taken at 5 6'clock to-merrow on the bill, and all perding amendments.

A message announcing the action of the House on the Cuban resolutions was received; but no further action on the part of the Senate was necessary, and, at
